Jennifer B. Kahnweiler, Ph.D. speaks to leaders and aspiring leaders on how to strengthen their people skills in the workplace and achieve results. She is also a well respected coach who helps professionals focus their career direction.

What clients have to say...

Dr. Jennifer B. Kahnweiler conducted two workshops in July this year at our annual regional conference in metro Atlanta. One session addressed effective networking and the other focused on intergenerational communication. During each, Dr. Kahnweiler demonstrated the ability to connect with her audience through her interactive approach.

The result was a solid delivery that was substantive, energizing, and fun. Our staff came away feeling that they had gained valuable information and insights that will assist them in carrying out the responsibilities of their jobs. I would highly recommend her.

- NANCY KORNEGAY
Georgia Department of Labor

As an Executive Assistant to the president of a $5 billion community bank, the "Managing Up" session offered a myriad of ideas both for me personally, as well as for the office in which I work. I am confident that what I took away from the session will make me successful, which can help me to make the person I work for more successful as well. Mostly, though, I feel so much more empowered to take control of my position and my career. With the wonderful ideas you offered at the conference, I am confident that the goals I've set in place can be met and surpassed with ease.
